Moose Fraternity, Chastain & Trackhouse Extend Partnership

The Moose Fraternity, Ross Chastain and Trackhouse Racing today announced the trio will continue their partnership through the 2026 and 2027 NASCAR Cup Series seasons on the team's No. 1 Chevrolet with Chastain behind the wheel. It will mark the seventh and eighth Cup Series seasons the Moose has paired with Chastain on the track while using the 32-year-old, Alva, Florida native in membership and charity initiatives away from the track.

"The Moose Fraternity has been with me at racetracks and taken me to lodges across the country. They are salt of the earth, good people who I have watched give back to the community. I couldn't be prouder to say I am, and my family are, members of Tice and the Shores, Florida Lodge 1297 within the Moose Fraternity," – Ross Chastain

The Moose Fraternity was one of the first corporations to support Trackhouse Racing when it acquired the NASCAR assets of Chip Ganassi Racing in 2021. The Moose Fraternity livery adorned Chastain's Chevrolet when he notched his second career Cup Series win at Talladega (Ala.) Superspeedway in April 2022 in an exciting finish that saw Chastain move from third to first on the final lap.

But few NASCAR fans will ever forget the "Hail Melon" wall ride at Martinsville (Va.) Speedway in October 2022. In the penultimate race of the season, Chastain rode the Martinsville Speedway walls on the final two corners to pass multiple cars and gain entry into the Championship 4 season finale the following weekend at Phoenix Raceway in Avondale, Arizona.

The maneuver, eventually outlawed by NASCAR for safety concerns, drew global praise and recognition as the video eclipsed more than 225 million views, and the event garnered 1.2 billion impressions. The No. 1 Moose Fraternity Chevrolet was the top-selling diecast in 2022, according to Lionel Racing.

The Moose Fraternity will adorn the No. 1 Chevrolet as a primary partner for four races next season and as an associate partner for the full Cup Series schedule.

Chastain still has work to do in 2025, however. Ross will pilot the Moose Fraternity livery twice more this season – Bristol (Tenn.) Motor Speedway on Sept. 13 and Martinsville (Va.) Speedway on Oct. 26.

Chastain won the Coca-Cola 600 in Charlotte in May and is part of the 2025 NASCAR Playoffs.

Chastain Races No. 1 Moose Fraternity Car This Week at Bristol

Ross Chastain will enter the third race in this year's playoffs looking to advance to the next round when he takes on the Bristol Motor Speedway in the red and black Moose Fraternity Chevrolet. Ross currently sits in 11th place in the playoff standings, 19 points above the cut line. The top 12 drivers advance. A strong finish during Saturday's Bass Pro Shops Night Race will ensure that he moves onto the next round.

This will be the third of four races that Chastain will pilot the Moose Fraternity car. Earlier this year he finished eighth in Atlanta during the Ambetter Health 400, and was contending in Dover before a late race scrape with the wall on turn two essentially ended his day. In October, Ross will once again head to Martinsville, SC in the Moose car to race in the Xfinity 500, the last race before the season finale in Phoenix.

Members looking to cheer Ross on to victory during the Bass Pro Shops Night Race can catch the contest this Saturday, September 13th at 7:30pm ET on the USA Network.
